Minutes for University of Delaware CAS Faculty Senate meeting
March 18, 2019
104 Gore

Also Present: J. Angelini, M. Rieger

1. The agenda was approved.
2. The minutes of the February meeting were approved.
3. The Senate President (D. Smith) made no remarks.
4. Middle States Accreditation (Mark Rieger):

   Mark Rieger presented a summary of the Middle States Commission Self-Study and Reaffirmation of Accreditation process. See the attached slides. This is a two-year process. The report is similar to 2011 but the format has changed. The site visit will be in early 2021. Working Groups have been formed and have begun work. Slides include the schedule.

   J. Morgan pointed out that it would be better to have town halls during the academic year. M. Bush asked about student representation on the working groups. There are some members but there are opportunities to invite guests for committee meetings. J. Morrison wondered how much the process costs. Direct costs are tens of thousands of dollars (hiring an editor for the final report) though of course much more time is involved. M. Stanton asked about how college structure maps into the document. There are faculty and staff from all the colleges involved. Working group memberships are available on the website. J. Serrano asked if they anticipate any issues or if any occurred in 2011. The 2011 review criticized minority inclusion and diversity, and this deficiency was addressed in the 2016 mid-term review.

5. Remarks from the Dean (John Pelesko)

   See the attached slides.

   The Dean gave quick updates on three topics: Committee is working on CAS representation on the Graduate College Council. There is not much of an update on the budget model. The search for the nine professional academic advisors is underway.

   The Dean provided longer comments on the appointment of associate deans. Last year, the CAS Senate Executive Committee, and many department chairs, discussed this topic with J. Pelesko, and there is dissatisfaction with the past appointments of associate deans with little transparency. The Dean noted the Faculty Handbook Section 2.6 requirements.
The Dean considers there to be three possible cases. For the case of vacancy in an associate dean position with plenty of time for a search (the “ideal case”), the Dean will issue a call soliciting nominations through the department chairs, but will also encourage individuals to apply. He will put together a three-person committee, consisting of one person from the CAS Senate Executive Committee (from a different portfolio), one department chair or former department chair (from a different portfolio), and [likely] one associate dean (from a different portfolio). His intention is not to appoint people to “interim” positions unless this is necessary due to lack of time. The second case is when there are existing interim associate deans, as they do now. He intends a “review for appointment,” similar to the review of re-appoint department chairs, using a three-person committee of the same makeup. The third case is he will name an “acting associate dean” for a time-limited period when the associate dean is on sabbatical or similar absence.

D. Galileo asked about engagement with the faculty. J. Pelesko is committed to engagement but wants flexibility for different portfolios and timing circumstances. J. Morgan suggested for acting dean that the interview/engagement process should be like the other appointments, but J. Pelesko re-iterated that he thinks this is undesirable for a relatively brief acting position. J. Morgan also made suggestions for communicating with faculty directly. Finally, J. Pelesko explained in response to a question that associate deans serve at the pleasure of the dean.

6. COCAN Report (J. Morgan)

There has been progress in staffing committees since the last meeting. Some vacancies remain. An arts portfolio member must be found for the P&T Committee. Other vacancies were discussed.

7. Graduate College Council (J. Morgan)

J. Morgan summarized the need to set up a system to elect 14 representatives for our 25 departments. The Executive Committee discussed ideas. An ad hoc committee was recommended at the previous CAS Senate meeting. A group of seven faculty have volunteered and are available for meetings. The need to represent ELI was noted. Elections should be completed by June 1 according to the Graduate College Bylaws; the Provost desires elections as soon as possible. It is hoped that the CAS Senate can approve the election system in April so that elections can be held in May. There was a discussion of the procedure to form a committee and select the chair according to CAS Bylaws. The Senate approved a motion for the formation of a committee with the seven names discussed, allowing the COCAN chair to recruit additional members, and directing the committee to elect its own chair.

8. New Business: J. Morgan noted that last year there was discussion with John Sawyer of forming a university committee to study the university’s ranking. However, nothing has happened about this committee. J. Morgan is concerned about the university’s reputation as a party school (including ranking by the Princeton Review, a recent Newark ordinance, and a student petition objecting to this ordinance) and suggests a discussion by the Senate. The methodology of the party school ranking by the Princeton Review was criticized by some Senators. The need to get data from the administration for any discussion was raised. Other senators noted that students were concerned about how the Newark ordinance was passed without consultation with the students and the tactics that the students may be subjected to by the police.

J. Morrison noted that President Assanis has expressed interest in addressing this Senate. This has not yet been scheduled but the Senate President will reach out again.

9. The Senate adjourned.

Middle States Accreditation Self Study

The University of Delaware will undergo a self-study process in preparation for our accreditation review by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education. The self-study is a critical step in the accreditation process. Middle States provides the following summary of the standards: “An accredited institution of higher education has an appropriate mission (I), lives it with integrity (II), delivers an effective student learning experience (III) and supports the overall student experience, both inside and
